

Jerry Eisenband

Communications

Jerry Eisenband joined the District in June 2016 as Director of Communications. He brings more than a decade and a half of experience in public and media relations, communications and marketing to the agency. Prior to his District service, he worked in the private sector managing communications at a regional, national and international level.

Eisenband graduated with honors from Rutgers University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Communication, Information and Library Studies.

Eisenband leads the District's media relations and communications functions to keep the public informed of the agency's accomplishments in fulfilling its core mission — providing flood control, protecting water supplies, improving water quality and restoring America's Everglades. Responsibilities include strategic communication planning, social media and multimedia services.
