FLINT PEN STRAND HIKING TRAIL

These trails allow the public to enjoy part of the 60,000-acre Corkscrew Regional Ecosystem Watershed (CREW). This land helps protect and preserve one of our most valuable natural resources - water.

CREW stretches from Corkscrew Road to Immokalee Road and includes a 5,000-acre sawgrass marsh that helps filter water.

The Billy G. Cobb Memorial Trail (Red Trail) is approximately 1.5 miles long. A blue short cut trail is available for guests that wish to end their hike earlier. The trail is winding with uneven terrain and may be seasonably wet.

This trail winds through many ecosystems, including pine flatwoods, and offers views of the Kehl Canal.

Flint Pen Strand offers a variety of habitats for wildlife including fox squirrels, white-tailed deer, bobcats, otters, swallow-tailed kites and bald eagles.

Swallow-tailed kites can be seen soaring over sections of the red trail when they return each winter to nest.
